The six prisoners who entered the Tombs Police Court in charge of Inspector Murray and his aides yesterday were eagerly scanned by many eyes. The published disclosures concerning the death of Victoria Connors had brought to the court room a large crowd of persons. Dr. C. M. Baker was the first to enter, about 9 s. m. He seemed nervous and agi-tated. Dr. Orlando E. Bradford, who was known as the "black doctor" among the inmates of the tenement house, looked pale and careworn. Dr. David W. Aitken, Dr. Frederick H. Lay, and William Blinn seemed to be indifferent observers of the scene. Dr. Aitken is a large fleshy man of twentyeight, with light hair and complexion, blue eyes and light blonde monstache and side-whiskers. Dr. Lay, and Blinn, the hotel clerk, are both short and slender. They were fashionably dressed. Dr. Lay has light hair, blue eyes, and a heavy reddish moustache, while his alleged companion in the betrayal of Victoria Connors is very dark, having black hair and monstache, and dark brown Mrs. Connors, the mother of the dead girl, is a sharp-featured Irish woman of forty. She seemed to be

Inspector Murray desired the examination of the prisoners to proceed as soon as possible, but Mr. Howe, Dr. Bradford's counsel, wished the hearing to be post-pened until to-day. Justice Kilbreth therefore adourned the case until 11 a.m. to-day, and remanded the prisoners to Police Headquarters. Mr. Howe asked that Dr. Bradford should be allowed to see an importtant witness in the case, but the Justice refused grant the request. Mr. Howe afterward made a similar request to Inspector Murray, saying that if the witness was not allowed to speak with Dr. Bradford he would serve the writ of habeas corpus which he had obtained from Judge Donohue on the previous day. It was learned that the witness referred to by Mr. Howe was Charlotte Temple, whose alleged maltreatment by Dr. Whitehead was brought to public notice last Winter. She has lived at brought to public notice last Winter. Suc has lived at Dr. Bradferd's house for several months and has shared his confidence. She said vesterday: "The charges of malpractice against Dr. Bradford and Dr. Baker are false. Victoria Comors came here nione one day when Dr. Bradford was away, and refused to leave the house until he had returned. If she had suffered from malpractice it was before she came here. Dr. Baker was called in one night to assist in checking a sunden flow of blood, but I know that no operation was performed on her. nere."

called in one night to assist in checking a sudden flow of blood, but I know that no operation was performed on her. here."

Dr. Bradford has been regarded with suspicion by the police for a long time. Under various assumed names he has advertised to ald women in danger of being exposed to shame. He was arrested and charged with malpractice over a year ago in the case of Georgianna Shires. The evidence against him was not strong enough for a conviction, and he was discharged. In February last he was placed under $2,000 bail on a charge of selling unlawful medicines. He is not recognized as a physician by the Board of Health. It was for this reason, it is believed, that he procured a certificate of death from Dr. Baker, in the case of Victoria Connors, in order to evade a Coroner's inquest. Dr. Baker's assertion that he did not sign the certificate with the signature of Dr. Haker on the register at the Bureau of Vital Statistics. The two signatures were found to correspond so closely as to leave no doubt apparently that Dr. Baker did sign the cortificate. Looking over the records Dr. Nagle found that on January 20, a woman, named Margaret Collins Bisbec, died at Dr. Baker's house in Tenth-st., after being delivered of a still-born child. There were doubts expressed that the woman had ever been married and the man who claimed to be her husband was afterward a contestant in court for property which he claimed she had left him by will. The relatives of the woman were kept in ingrozines of her death for some months, and were unable to get much information.

Dr. Baker was brought before Judge Donome at 2 p. m., yesterday, on a writ of habeas corpus, and his counsel asked for his discharge on the ground that a hearing had been denied him. Judge Donohue sent the prisoner back to Police Headquarters again, saying that he believed Justice K libreth was proceeding toward an examteritor, as recording a recognition.

ANOTHER SYSTEM OF PRIZE SWINDLING. Many small country papers in various parts of the United States and Canada have recently con-tained an advertisement setting forth that "The Commercial Prize Association of New-Vork" would "dis-tribute $250,000 in gifts," in "daily drawings." "tickets being 25 cents each, and every ticket drawing a prize." Opinions of the New-York press commending the enterprise, and references, " by kind permission," are thickly strewn through the advertisement. This imaginary "association," like a great many similar enterprises that have been exposed through the press recently, is a swindle. The method of operating is as follows: A person attracted by the advertisement incloses 25 cents in an envelope, and sends it to " J. Millard, at No. 16 Variek-st., New-York," the address given in the original advertisement. By return mail he receives a ticket, informing him that he has drawn a receives a licket, informing him that he has drawn a rosewood piano, valued at $400. Accompanying the licket is a letter, congratulating him on his success, and stating that on receipt of $10.50 to defray the cost of packing and shipping, the piano will be forwarded to him. The letter closes by requesting the fortunate ticket-holder to address all communications in future to "our cashier, F. Edmondson, No. 100 West-st., New-York." When the necessary amount is forwarded, the "Commercial Prize Association" is heard from no more, and the expectant owner of the piano realizes the fact that he has been duped to the extent of $10.75.

A reporter of The Tenning called at Variok and A reporter of THE TRIBUNE called at Variek and

A reporter of The Tribune called at Varick and North Moore-sts., where was found a liquor-saloon kept by John H. Miller. Mr. Miller, when interrogated concerning "J. Millard," said that a great many letters came to his saloon addressed to that person, and were regularly called for by a tail, dark man. Mr. Miller professed entire knorance of Millard's business, and when informed of the dublous occupation in which he was engaged, said he would instruct the letter-carrier to leave no more of his letters with him. The reporter next sought out No. 100 West-st., which proved to be a beer-saloon nearly opposite Pier No. 11 North River, where crowds of longshoremen and satiors congregate. The proprietor, a small man with a red moustache, was asked if he knew "F. Edmondson." He said that a great number of letters came to his place addressed to Edmondson, who called and got them, and went away without saying anything. Where he came from, or where he went, he was unable to state. Many persons called at his saloon to make inquries about him, but he could give them no further information.

INCENDIARISM IN EAST NEWARK. A row of frame buildings was destroyed by fire in East Newark (Harrison) yesterday morning. The buildings were situated between the Passaic River and Passaic-ave., and were occupied respectively by Staniar & Laffey, manufacturers of wire and wire cloth; the Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of oil cloth; Freeman Bowers, boat-house, saloon and dwelling, and Patrick Toohey, coal sheds. All the buildings were burned except the main building of Staniar & Laf-The fire broke out about 4 o'clock in the rear building of the Hyde Manufacturing o'clock in the rear building of the Hyde Manufacturing Company's factory. The loss of the Hyde Manufacturing Company is about $10,000, partially insured. The buildings were owned by Cephas M. Woodruff, of Newark, who estimates his loss at $10,000. He is insured in New-York companies for $4,000. Staniar & Luffey's loss is $4,000; the insurance is heavy. Preeman Bowers's loss is 8001 $12,000. He had no insurance. Patrick Toohey lost $900 in the sheds, which were owned by D. W. Crane & Co., of Newark, which were valued at $500. Neither Mr. Toohey nor Crane & Co. have any insurance. The Imperial Manufacturing Company's loss is about $8,000; they were insured for $4,000 in foreign companies. There seems to be no doubt that the fire was of incendary origin.

THEODORE THOMAS'S SUCCESSOR.

The Brooklyn Philharmonic Society recently appointed a committee to consider and report upon the selection of a conductor in the place of Theo Thomas. The committee has been carrying on active negotiations, and at a meeting of the society Tuesday even negotiations, and at amore the plan. The report was accepted, and the committee was empowered to complete the negotiations began. The members of the committee expect to be able to make public in a few days a statement of the result that will be most gratifying to the admirers of Mr. Thomas in New-York and Brooklyn.

ARTISTIC COSTUMES ON THE STAGE.

The costumes worn last Winter by Madame Modjeska as Camille were of great elegance, but during her recent trip abroad she has changed the character of her dresses in this, her great part, and appears in costumes at once more simple and artistic. In the first act she wears a costume of pale straw-colored silk, made with round basque with low vest of bronze and strawcolored damassé velvet. There is a short curtain over dress in front, edged with fringe of the two colors. The bottom of the skirt is finished with five rows of knifeplaited silk. The drapery in the bac is slightly bouffant, and composed of the silk and damassé veivet. The front of the skirt is fluished with looped bows of bronze, straw-color and pair blue ribbon. Elbow sleeves are worn, with points of velvet and lace at the bottom. A narrow rolling collar gives a peculiar fluish to the low, square neck. This rostume was designed by Ropps, a Beldian artist, and made under Madame Modjeska's own squervision.

low, square neck. This costume was designed by kropps, a Belgian artist, and made under Madame Modieska's own supervision.

The dress worn in the second act is very beautiful and novel. It is a Grecian overdress of white Canton crape, heavily embroidered in white silk and trimmed with silk fringe, worn over a petticoat of white corded silk. The boddice of this dress is very high, and finished around the throat with full ruching (? crape and crepelisse. This dress was designed by G 'sebski, an artist in Paris. The dress worn in the third ac. 'a simple house dress of turquoise blue foulard, trimmed with white Chupy lace. The ball costume in the fourth act was designed by Zeeby, and is a princesse of cream white satin, cut low and square. The front is haid in lengthwise plaits and banded with white satin ribbon, tied in a tiny bow in the front; five kulfe plaitings finish the bottoa; of the front, while the back has a deep side plaiting, on either edge of which a narrow knife, plaifing forms a full ruche. A large diamond cross suspended by a white satin ribbon is worn around the throat. Diamond earrings, and a band of diamonds around the dark hair, in which nestles a camellia, complete this superb costume. A simple wrapper of white dotted Swiss is worn in the fifth act.

ACCITIVITY AT THE ACADEMY OF DESIGN.

ACTIVITY AT THE ACADEMY OF DESIGN. The Loan Exhibition of the Society of Decorative Art will open October 15. Preparations for it are being actively made at the Academy of Design, where it is to be held. One room will be devoted exclusively to the work of the contributors to the society. The large north room is to be used for the Japanese and Chinese exhibits, which will be so arranged that they may be easily compared. The Committee on Reception and Arrangement has been appointed, but will defer its and Arrangement has been appointed, but will deter in meeting until the arrival of Russel Sturgs from Europe. The society is anxious that the public should know of whom the committee is composed, so that they may understand to whom the articles intended for exhibition are to be sent. The names are as follows: Lucius Tuckerman, Robert Hoe, Jr., Wu. C. Prime, Russel Sinrgls, T. Balley Myers, Samuel Coleman, Louis Tiffony, Wasbington Whitredge, T. Addison Richards, Mrs S. L. M. THE QUESTION OF CLOSING COLORED SCHOOLS. The resignation of Eliza G. Ferris, who has been principal of the Colored Grammar School No. 1 for thirty-three years, was accepted yesterday by the Board of Education. Commissioners Maniere, Cohen, Katzenberg, Wood and West submitted a report in opposition to berg, Wood and West submitted a report in opposition to Commissioner Transi's resolution to close the colored schools of this city. The report says: "The colored schools of this city. The report says: "The colored people are decidedly opposed to the proposition to close their schools. There is no violation of the law of 1873 in continuing them." It was recommended that the colored schools be continued until the average attendance is more decidedly reduced. It was suggested that these schools would gradually fade out, and that at no distant day colored and white children would be found in the same schools. The report was laid over for future consideration.

THE PORTER INVESTIGATION.

ARGUMENT FOR THE GOVERNMENT. GENERAL PORTER'S CONDUCT ONCE MORE AR-RAIGNED-SPEECH OF THE JUDGE-ADVOCATE.

The board of Army officers appointed to review the case of General Fitz John Porter continued its session yesterday at Governor's Island. The day was taken up by the argument made by Major Asa Bird Gardner in be half of the Government. The Judge Advocate read from a large pile of manuscript. Major Gardner expressed regret that the board was not invested with judicial functions, and power to administer oaths and to compet the attendance of witnesses; and that wilful faise swearing before it would not fall within the statutory definition of perjury. He then said in part:

We are called upon to review the proceedings of a general court martial of the Army of the United States as valid a judicial tribunal as exists in the world. On his trial, General Porter raised the point that the court appointed by Major-General Halleck should have been appointed by the President, under the act of 1830, unon the ground that the charges preferred by General Roberts, Inspector-General of the Army of Virginia, might be assumed to have been preferred by its commander, Major-General Pope. This objection, which was overruied by the court, was considered at length in reference to the object and intention of the act on which it was based. Of this court the petitioner has asserted that it could not sit with that calmness necessary for a judicial deliberation; that his sentence was undeserved and that he was improperly convicted. In the American Army there had not been a court of officers of such high rank since General Washington on September 29, 1780, appointed the tribunal which tried Major André. This court, composed of mine general officers, after a continuous session of forty-five days, during which he was defended by the Hon. Reverdy Johnson and Charles Esmes, convicted General Porter of grave offences. The case was reviewed by Judge-Advocate-General Holt, by order of President Lincoln. Immediately after the verdict and decision of the President, the senior counsel published, July, 1863, an attack upon the court. That attack, I do his trial, General Porter raised the point that the court Reverdy Johnson and Charles Eaues, convicted General Porter of grave offences. The case was reviewed by Judge-Advocate-Greneral Holt, by order of President Lincoln. Immediately after the verdict and decision of the President, the senior counsel published, July, 1863, an attack abon the court. That attack, I do not heastate to say, was unprecedented and unwarranted. This board is asked now to examine into the merits of this case in the light of newly discovered evidence. In the original trial, the court, after argument and protest, railed out the very testimony which here is presented in an appeal to President Johnson, October 16, 1867, which was not granted, General Porter chained to be able to add materially to the testimony. This he has done, but, as I shall try to show, without enanging the status of the case. He has brought for ward as new evidence Confederate testimony, on which he demands reversal of the judgment; but in reply to a Senator of the United States, in March, 1870, he said: "All just men will agree that it will not do to use and land rebel testimony against me." I propose to show that this testimony of the then onemies of their country is not newly discovered evidence in any light that would have entitled it to consideration.

The Army of the Potomes, in July, 1802, after a series of battles, was at Harrison's Landing, on the James River. The campsign against Richmond had failed, and on August 3 offers were issued from Washington for that army to move from the Peninsula to Acquia Creek for a new campaign. General Pope was to operate until the arrival of his chief, from Washington for that army to move from the Peninsula to Acquia Creek for a new campaign. General Pope was to operate until the arrival of his chief, from Washington for that army to move from the Peninsula to Acquia Creek for a new campaign. General Pope's army a separate command, with which he was to cooperate until the arrival of his chief, from Washington for had been detached in the change of buse. On the evening of August 26

The only witness examined yesterday was Colonel Edward D. Fowier, of No. 178 Fort Greene place, Brooklyn, who was at the time Lieutenant-Colonel commanding the 14th Regiment New-York Volunteers. The witness described the movements on August 29, 1862, of the brigade to which his regiment was attached. During his examination, being asked if he heard any sounds of action from Porter's corp., he replied: "I did not; but I heard sounds of action from the place where the corpsonght to have been." ought to have been."

The session of the board will be continued to-day.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS. THE AUSTRALIANS WIN.

Atlantic has the game of cricket aroused so much interest and attention as during the past two days at Hoboken. The unexpectedly brilliant

DEFEAT OF THE AMERICAN EIGHTEEN BY THE AUS-TRALIAN ELEVEN BY ONE RUN, WITH FOUR WICKETS TO SPARE. Seldom if ever before on this side of the playing of the American team on Tuesday largely increased the attendance yesterday. The Australian players were plainly astonished by the fine boling of Brewster and Sprague, and the admirable fleiding of their opponents. The game was called yesterday morning at 11:30, but long before that time the throng of spectators began to pour in and take possession of every available seat and point of observation. At 11:40 play was begun, the Americans going to the hat, in order to complete their second inning, which was interrupted on Tuesday afternoon by the game being called. The Americans scored 63 in their first inning to 70 scored by the Australians. In their second inping they had made 34 runs, with four wickets down, Messrs. Greig and Giles being at the bat when play ceased on Tuesday, Greig and Giles accordingly opened for the Americans yesterday morning. The "demon bowler," as Spottorth was called, soon disposed of Giles, whose place was taken by Soulter. Greig retired for three runs, making mail twenty, a fine score, and was succeeded by Marsh, whose fortune it was to make, by his fine playing, the score of the day and receive the enthusiastic plaudits of the lookers-on. He made a six, four, and two three hits almost in succession, playing with great skill, and when at last he retired, 25 runs too to the score, and the word of the score, and the prospect of the Americans winning the match apparently grew better every moment. Rogan and Stevens added nothing to the score, and 10 wickets were now down for 73 runs, and the prospect of the Americans winning the match apparently grew better every moment. Rogan and Stevens added nothing to the score, and 10 wickets were now down for 80 runs. Brewster failed to score, as did Moeran also, but Fraser, Cushiman and Sleigh added 5, 3, and 2 each, and the score gradually increased. Connor and Allen were the last players, and when the latter succumbed to Spofforth's bowling, it was found, and surprise and rejoicing, that the American 17 wickets were down for 98 runs, making a grand total of 161 runs. In order to the the Australians would have to make 91, to win, 92.

At 1:30 the Australians began play, sending to the bat A. and C. Bannerman, who played for some time a waiting game, blocking the balls of Brewster and Sprague with care and playing caniously. The fielding of the Americans was excellent, and at 2 p. m., when the players adjourned for lunch, the score of Tuesday was only slightly increased. By the first the for u bat, in order to complete their second inning, which was interrupted on Tuesday afternoon by the game being lant plays and a remarkable exhibition of skill on both sides.

Horan was bowled for 16 runs by Brewster. At 3:45 two wickets were down for 39 runs. Boyle was caught out by Marsh for 3 runs, but Spofforth and Gregory proved nearly invincible. After long playing, which was accompanied by mace applause, the former retired with the fine score of :3, while Gregory was not out with the same score. The fifth wicket was down for S5. At 5:07 Gregory made a fine hit under the ropes, which was missed by Marsh, giving him 3. With two hits just before, this brought the score to 92, and the Australians had won the great match by one run, and four wickets to spare. There was great excitement at the close, and many cries of "play it out" were heard, but this was impossible, as the Australians wished to start for Philadelphia assoon as possible. They play there for three days, beginning to-morrow, on the Germantown Grounds, arainst a picked eleven, consisting of the four Marshall Brothers, two Hargrave Brothers, Mead, Brewster, Hopkinson and two other veterans at the same.

It will be noticed in the following score that Marsh, of game.

It will be noticed in the following score that Marsh, of the Americans, made the greatest number of runs. The remarkably small number of wides and byes on both a desis noteworthy. The record is considered an extra-AMERICANS.

FORTY-FOUR BULL'S-EYES. RIFLE SHOOTING WHICH BEATS ANYTHING EVER BEFORE KNOWN.

Washington, Oct. 2.-Mr. J. M. T. Partelio, of this city, yesterday afternoon, at the Columbia Riffe Range near this place, made lifteen consecutive bull's-eyes at 800 yards; fourteen bull's-eyes and one eyes at 800 yards; forficed but's-eyes and one entre at 900 yards, and fifteen consecutive bul's-eyes at 1,000 yards, making a score of 224 out of a possible 225. His friends are jubilant over the score, which they claim has never been equalled. The only score which approaches this was made on September 25 last at Creedmoor, in the international competition. At that time it was claimed to be the best ever made at any range in the wor'd. Summer's score was 221, being 75, 25, 25, 25, 25, 20, 900 and 1,000 yards ranges ranges. 74 and 72 at the 800, 900 and 1,000 yards ranges resp

Hughes came on five minutes later. bright and fresh. Hughes came on five minutes later. At the time of starting yesterday morning, O'Leary had walked 176 miles against Hughes's 153. O'Leary finished his two-bundredth mile in 7 minutes and 20 seconds, atter 11 a.m., the whole time being 58 hours, 7 minutes and 20 seconds. Hughes did not finish his two-bundredth mile until 15 minutes after 5 m the afternoon, being 6 hours and 8 minutes behind O'Leary. O'Leary still keeps up his usual gart, while Hughes at intervals of a few laps makes a rpir and then falls back to his old peculiar walk. The only exciting part of yesterday's walk was when Hughes started on the first lap of his one hundred and eighty-clinth mile, and ran four miles in thirty-one minutes and forty-one seconds. At a late hour last night O'Leary was twenty-eight miles ahead, having walked 258 to Hughes's 200.

"Swans, one guinea," was one of the items in the bill of a guest at a hotel in Richmond, England. "But I haven't had any swans," protested the aston-shed guest." "It's the view, str. from the hopen winder," explained the waiter, pointing with a fork toward a Thames eyot. "We don't charge for swans in a back room."

"Drunk, by thunder!" exclaimed a gentle-man on seeing an intoxicated individual pass. The lat-ter heard the remark, stopped, steaded himself, looked wise as an owl, and said: "Ash mishtake. I'm drunk by lightning; forty-hie-rod." The corn was immediately acknowledged on both sides.—[Keokuk Constitution.

On the cross-examination the wit-ness admitted that she said this in a jokting way. The in-quiry was adjourned until this morning.

OBITUARY.

CYRILLE DION.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12 .-- Cyrille Dion, the celerated billiard player, died of congestion of the lungs while on his way to witness the Hanlan-Courtney race.

Cyrille Dion's first prominent public appearance was at a tournament in Montreal, July 12, 1865, for the championship of Canada. He won five games and lost none, thus winning first prize and the championship badge. On July 20, of the same year, he defeated R. E. Wilmarth, then champion of Massachusetts, for a purse of $500, gold. The return match was to have been played in Boston, October 19, but Wilmarth paid forfeit. In November, Dion played with McDevitt in New-York, receiving 300 points odds, but was badly beaten. At the great champions' tournament in the Hippotheatron, in this city, in September, 1866, home won first prize, a gold-mounted cue, lossus but one game out of the series of six, and that to Hubbell, champion of Connecticut. Dion next worsteed J. W. Cronn, a player of some note in Belleville, Caunda, and was subsequently challenged by McDevitt to play 300 points up, French, for $250 a side. The game took place at Irving Hall, May 10, 1869, and was one of the best contested on Freord, Dion winning by one point only. After the first tournament for the champion cue, Dion was defeated in turn by Deery and Rudolphe. The latter lost the cue to Frank Parker, who was beaten by Dion in April, 1871. He successfully held it against Foster and Deery, and was ultimately challenged by Maurice Daily, who, in the third essay, defeated the "Invincible." Dion's last public game was with Waihstrom, "the Swede," at fifteen ball pool, when he was defeated, Joseph Dion, a brother of Cyrille, is equally well known as one of the best of professional players, and the Dion family comprises a younger brother, who at the age of twenty-two was champion of Canada. ceiving 300 points odds, but was badly beaten. THE GLASGOW BANK FAILURE. FOUR EAST INDIA MERCHANTS CONCERNED-HEAVY ADVANCES MADE TO THEM. LONDON, Thursday, Oct. 3, 1878.

The Daily Telegraph's dispatch from Glasgow states that the causes of the failure of the City of Glasgow Bank are reported to have arisen from advances to to the amount of £6,000,000 [$30,000,000] to four firms of East India merchauts, who have been unable to meet their engagements.

Much sympathy is felt for the unfortunate shareholders of the bank. Much of the stock is held by ladies and ers of the bank. Much of the stock is held by ladies and gentlemen who lived retired on a moderate competence, and now find themselves reduced from circumstances of comfort to absolute poverty. Seven hundred and fifty persons employed by the bank and its branches are affected by the failure.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY. AN ARTICLE THAT WILL MAKE THE BALD AND THE GRAT HEADED REFORCE.

Of all the compounds which the chemist's art have given to

Of all the compounds which the chemist's art have given to the world for hundreds of years, for the purpose of restoring the hair to its natural growth and color, not one has been perfect. Many of the hair dressings of the day are excellent, but the great mass of the stuffs sold for promoting the growth and bringing back the original color are mere humburs, while not a few are positively peralcious in their effects upon the scalp and the structure of the hair. All hair dyes are well known to chemists as more or less poisonous, because the change in color is artificial, and does not depend upon a restoration of the functions of the scalp to their natural health and vigor. The falling out of the hair, the accumulation of daniroff, and the premature change in color, are all evidences of a diseased condition of the scalp and the glands which nourish the hair. To arrest these causes the article used must possess medical as well as chemical virtues, and the change must begin under the scalp to be of permanent and lasting benefit. Such an arhas been discovered, and like many other wonderful discovered. has been discovered, and like many other wonderful discover-les it is found to consist of elements almost in their natural state. Petroleum oil is the article which is made to work such extraordinary results; but it is after the best refined article has been chemically treated and completely declorized that it is in proper condition for the toilet. It was in far-off Russia. that the effects of petroleum upon the bair were first observed; a Government officer having noticed that a partially bald-headed servant of his, when trimming the lames, had a habib of whing his oil-besmeared hands in his scanty locks, and the result was, in a few months, a much finer head of black, glossy hair than he ever had before. The oil was tried on horses and cattle that had jost their hair from the cattle plague, and the results were as rapid as they were marvellous. The manes and even the tails of horses, which had fallen out, were completely restored in a few weeks. These experiments were heralded to the world, but the knowledge was practically useless to the prematurely bald and gray, as no one in the decrease to the prematurely bank and gray, as no one in the civilized society could tolerate the use of refined petroleum as a dressing for the nair. But the saill of one of our chemists has overcome the difficulty, and by a process known only to himself be has, after very elaborate and costly experiments, succeeded in deodorizing refined petroleum, which renders its succeptible of being handled as daintily as the famous can de Cologue. The experiments with the decorrised liquid, on the human hair, were attended with the most astonishing results. A few applications, where the hair was thin and falling, gave remarkable tone and vigor to the scale and the hair, and the natural color began to appear almost from the first application. Every particle of dandruff disappears on the first expected dressite and the liquid as a supplying the first or second dressing, and the liquid, so searching in its radical change from the start. It is well known that the moss beautiful colors are made from petroleum, and by some mys-terious operation of nature the use of this article gradually imparts a beautiful light brown color to the hair, which, by continued use, deepens to a black. The color remains permanent for an indefinite length of time, and the change is so gradual that the most intimate friends can scarcely detect its gracual that the most manate friends can sexreely detect its age, and well calculated to make the prematurely baild and; gray rejoice. The name Carboline has been given to the article, and is put up in a neat and attractive manner and soid by all dealers in drugs and medicines. Price one dollar a bottle. KENNEDY & Co.
